CASHDAN'S COIN COMMENTS

We have had so many inquiries regarding the return of the checks sent to Mexico last January, that we have decided to write a short column about that phase now. This is all going to be covered in our article which is scheduled for

By Eliot J. Cashdan

Although I wrote the article that appeared in the January 16th issue of Pace, it was not supposed to be published. As a matter of fact, I had sent the article in to Pace WITHOUT any address appearing in it at all. Naturally I assumed that the article could not be printed without an address, but I also sent written instructions with the article to hold it until I had obtained the address.

Of course the best laid plans of mice and men often go astray. I was later told what happened when the article appeared in Pace. It seems that the editor at that time was Mr. Peavey. He read the article, without the address, and mentioned it to a coin dealer who happened to be visiting the Pace offices in Houston at that time. Between the two of them, they came up with the idea that the man or company that was to have the distribution of the Mexican publication in the November 5th issue of Pace. The November 5th issue contains the whole story with all of the events leading up to the announcement that appeared in Pace and all of what happened afterwards.

sets was Sergio Torres Martinez, a Mexico City coin dealer. Without consulting me, and without consulting Sergio Torres Martinez, the post office box of Martinez was inserted into my article and the article was run in PACE. All of the orders went to Sergio Torres Martinez, who of course knew nothing about it until he started to receive numerous inquiries regarding the sets. All of this will be explained fully in the forthcoming article.

All of the checks that Martinez received were turned over by him to the court, and there they remained. To the best of my knowledge they are still there. We have been trying through the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City to recover these checks from the court so they may be returned to the senders, but up to this time, nothing has been accomplished. The U.S. Post Office Dept. is also working on the case, as there were many postal money orders sent also that were not returned to the senders.

I have received many letters personally asking me to return people's money to them. I have never seen any of the checks or money orders, as they were sent to Sergio Torres Martinez. The checks and money orders were supposed to be made out to Numismatica de Mexico, S.A., which was a Mexican corporation that I was not a part of. The corporation has since been dissolved, and there is no legal way that any of the checks or money orders can be cashed, but of course your money seems to be tied up indefinitely until the courts in Mexico get around to releasing the checks.

Many individuals have been able to get their money back on cashiers checks by posting a small bond and having their bank reissuing a check to them. We have personally helped some people who have sent in American Express money orders to recover their money from American Express. However, there is no way at the moment that you can be repaid for a U.S. Postal money order. The Post Office Department will not re-issue them at this time.

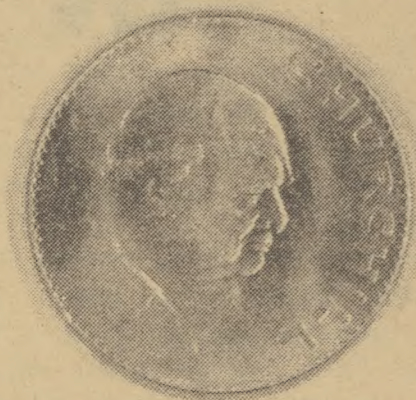

I am sure that you all can put two and two together. The article that was run by mistake caused my arrest and imprisonment. Now I own the newspaper. Although I don't personally feel responsible for the mess that occurred, I have done my best to try and help everyone get their money back, and will continue to do so.

NUMISMATIC REVIEW

F. Scott Otey III

Yes or No to Cleaned Coins

Hello friends, I just received a nice letter from a Mrs. C. W. Crowe. In her letter which had reference to my October 15th column on coin preservation she wondered why others including myself always left out the first "honest step" in coin preservation—cleaning.

A Touchy Subject

Mrs. Crowe, a relatively new numismatist, points out that if a coin is contaminated before sealing or storage, all the protection in the world would not save the coin. I agree fully, but here begins a touchy subject.

Myself being both numismatist and dealer and perfectly aware of the political nature of this subject, I do forthwith and hereby tell this "Clean Tale."

Main Ideas on Cleaning

There are several main school of thought concerning the WHYS and WHY NOTS plus the DO'S and DO NOTS on cleaning coins. I'll discuss them in no particular order. First, I think it should be said that if you know the dealer, his reputation, his integrity, then you can rest assured the coins will be as contamination-free as is humanly possible. Secondly, if the coins you buy are bright and shiny and free

Type Coins in Canada

By Maurice M. Gould

During the past few months I have had occasion to visit Canada several times and have been impressed with the numismatic activity. At the Canadian Numismatic Association Convention, held a couple of months ago, the activity and interest amazed me because this was during what I would call a from those small inconspicuous green spots, then chances are they will continue to remain so. To this end I say never clean a coin which is new or which is in an excellent state of preservation be it oxidized or not. Thirdly, to clean is to remove age, normal color, and third dimension. In their opinion this third dimension is depth of field.

"quiet" period to U.S. coins. Quite the opposite existed with our Canadian friends and dealers seemed well pleased with the results.

The same conditions existed on my other visits after the Convention in Canada, with even more enthusiasm than apparent previously.

The coin convention aucit is ageless beauty and rightly so because an uncleaned coin has character; it represents a small share of history, and a communication with their forefathers. Thus the uncleaned coin has inspirational and spiritual value plus its intrinsic value.

Dirty Money

The primary reason for cleaning is to bring out the real beauty and true color of a coin as well as to protect it from corrosion according to the new philosophy in practice. They want to see the actual coinage metal and study the minute imperfections on the surface of the coin such as die, breaks, doubling, and other physical changes. They can see nothing pretty about "Dirty money." Economically speaking a coin has more net worth cleaned as the grade of a coin plus its desirability is increased by proper cleaning.

Professional Cleaning As An Art

We can summarize by saying if you like beauty based on age, inspiration, history, or sentiment with the natural (as found) color on your coins then by all means never clean except in emergencies.

However, if you like beauty based on the feel and looks of cleaned money go to it.

Numismatics can accept both types of collectors and it needs people interested in history, art, patriotism, and pleasure among other things, and it opens the way for many rewarding and lasting friendships.

Remember too that coin cleaning is an art based on science and not a pastime for rank amateurs.

tion showed that the decimal series had reached a peak and that TYPE coins, tokens, paper money, were in demand and making new highs.

One thing that impressed me was the new trend in Canadian numismatics, which is TYPE collecting. There is now a comparable situation there to that which existed in the United States five or six years ago. At that time the U.S. collector was making up his sets of coins by dates and mintmarks and this brought many millions of new collectors into the field, but each succeeding year saw a sharp rise in the prices of all numismatic material, until it reached a point where the average collector could not afford to complete his sets. A series of coin boards and holders were then issued for only dates, leaving out the mintmarks, and even this method proved too costly, so the trend veered to TYPE coins.

There is a boom at the present time in U.S. TYPE collecting, and five or six years ago, when I could see a definite trend to this field, I predicted that TYPE collecting would be the popular numismatic medium of the future. Canadian TYPE collecting will now flourish as the completion of the regular series is becoming costly for the young and average collector, and therefore the natural course is to turn to TYPES.

I predict that during the next few years TYPE collecting will become more and more popular with new and various albums being issued to aid the collector reach his goal. A new Canadian TYPE album has just been issued which will be a boon to the collector in this field.

What is a TYPE coin? This is one coin selected from entire series and we will use the Canadian small cent as an example. The least expensive coin of each ruler, in the finest condition possible, is used in making a TYPE set and in this way, many times the rare and scarce dates are avoided.

A TYPE set is both historical and informative and

Dear Mr. Cashdan:

Enclosed please find personal check for $10.25 to extend my subscription for two years.

Your page of bid and asked prices is a must for the collector/investor. The article in the October 15th issue on the Jefferson nickels is very fine. As a collector of 35 years I might add a point of the 1939D Jefferson. During that year the Numismatist had an article that the Denver mint was going to remodel the storage facilities and that since they were inadequate, the whole wing would be replaced. I immediately figured that on this basis, not more than the banks would ask for would be made.

I tried to buy some in both the Chicago and the Minneapolis Federal Reserve banks and could not get any. Then I sent a check to a friend of mine at the University of Denver and included a bonus and had him order a lot from the mint. They were received in a few days. Since that time I have made a continuing study of their action and since 1950 compared the two. I find that there are only a fraction of the truly uncirculated 39D compared to the 50D.

Very truly yours,
Geo. E. Kaldenberg

Investors . . . Stop Guessing! Advanced Coin Collectors . . . Stop Overpaying! FIND OUT WHAT COINS ARE REALLY WORTH!

OUR BUSINESS is investment counseling and management, market research, appraisal and brokerage. We are NOT dealers with an inventory of bargain-priced coins for sale.

NO CHARGE is made for counseling or management. For our brokerage services we charge only 5% on transactions involving $1,000 to $20,000 — and less on larger orders. Our minimum fee is $50.

SELLING YOUR COINS at their true market value is another of our fine services. When we've received your coins they will be sold. When we've received payment our check will be sent to you covering the amount of the sale, minus our fee.

WHEN WE TRADE coins with you (in order that you may not become liable for the payment of income taxes on your profits) no charge is made for the trade. Instead, we take a mark-up of 5% or LESS on the coins we deliver to you.

UP TO 80% of each of your purchases can be FINANCED. The interest charged is the lowest available anywhere — and we DO NOT take a fee, as do others, for placing the loan. You are not required to reduce the loan unless you eventually wish to take physical possession of the coins.

IT'S EASY to open your account with us! If you are an advanced collector or investor with many years' experience, you can rely upon us to obtain those rare coins you need. If, on the other hand, you know very little about rare coins, and you are primarily interested in a long-range investment program, you really should just leave everything to us.

WHEN WE EXECUTE an order for you a formal confirmation is sent to you showing the exact prices paid or received by us, our fee, and sales tax and shipping charges, if any.

OUR RESEARCH STAFF analyzes the BU SINGLE and ROLL market quarterly. This includes almost every United States coin minted since the Civil War, and many coins minted prior thereto. No longer is it necessary to guess. These quarterly analyses tell you which coins are UNDERPRICED and which coins are OVERPRICED. Not all are actively traded and some are not easy to locate at the right price. However, as a regular subscriber you will have a definite advantage over those who are hoping and groping in the dark.

THESE ANALYSES are available quarterly at $3.00 per copy, or $10.00 annually. The latest issue is just off the press and contains some real startling facts. Most coins are a buy in today's market (unless you pay retail), but many popular coins are definitely overpriced. Don't hesitate a minute — it could mean a fortune to you in the future.

NATURALLY, we would like to have you open your account with us.

New England Robberies

By Maurice M. Gould

There have been nine major New England coin robberies since March of 1965, in addition to the many unreported ones which do not make the news.

These have baffled the New England police and F.B.I. investigators since last Spring, and the combined loot totaled nearly a million and a half dollars. Police believe the thefts to be the work of an international ring of thieves, with the coins stolen in New England being disposed of in distant cities, possibly even in Europe.

The robbery of coins from the Yale collection was the largest and most successful for the thieves. It is speculated that one of the thieves remained hidden in the building where the coins were housed until after the doors were locked and then later admitted his accomplices.

Librarian James Tanis reported that the gang of hooded robbers knew their numismatics as they selected special items which could be disposed of in the world market and in some cases, in looking through individual trays, selected only those items of high value or which would be difficult to detect when sold.

The same weekend as the Yale robbery, thieves entered an apartment at 520 Commonwealth Avenue in Boston's Back Bay. After breaking into two large safes, they carried away rare coins and paper money and historic material to the value of more than $200,000. Percy L. Rideout, one of the country's well known numismatists, was the victim of this well organized crime.

Much of this material is irreplaceable and the estimate was that half a ton of coins was taken and all this in a busy section of Boston.

On June 21, a $50,000 collection was obtained from a wall safe in the home of the former Chicopee, Mass. Mayor and well known collector, Walter J. Trybulski.

Then on July 6, a collection value in excess of $30,000 was taken from the home of John D. Keft of Braintree, Mass.

A month later, a $10,000 collection was stolen from the Groton, Mass. home of Brigadier General Costas L. Caraganis.

A week later, on either August 18 or 19, a window was forced open at the Addison Gallery of American Art at Andover's Phillips Academy and thieves made off with a collection of U.S. coins valued at $27,000, including some early Colonial material.

The following month, on September 5, a $15,000 collection was stolen from the home of Ralph E. Rose of West Hingham, Mass. Rose usually kept his coins in a safe deposit vault, but had just taken them out to prepare for a coin show on September 8th.

On September 11, a coin and stamp dealer, Bill Wyanski of Brighton, Mass. reported that coins valued at $39,000 had been stolen from a safe in his home.

This rounds out the important robberies and thefts, but there were many more, including the old standby, thefts from the trunks of automobiles parked for a short period by the owners.

Safe deposit boxes are becoming more and more difficult to obtain in the Boston area and insurance rates will no doubt increase until this wave of robberies is stopped.

The first good news pertaining to all of these losses was the announcement by the F.B.I. that they had raided the office of John W. Reisen, a prominent Chicago coin dealer and on September 6, charged him with violation of interstate transportation of stolen property. They said Reisen had in his possession 68 coins stolen from the University library at Yale. This was the first break that police have received in the string of major New England thefts, and it is hoped that more encouraging announcements will be forthcoming from the F.B.I.

This group of thieves seemed to hit certain sections of the country and concentrated on one area. They are well informed, it seems, as to values and carry out their work with efficiency.

Temporarily, the only thing that can be done is to have ample insurance, a complete listing of your coin collection, with prices paid, identifying marks, and photos whenever possible. Many collections are now kept in safe deposit vaults, but this is a large handicap for a collector who likes to handle and exhibit his coins.

Countermeasure

John Ford of New Netherlands Coin Company, has come up with the excellent idea of photographing a certain number of coins from each collection and if any coins should be recovered, these photos would be the ultimate in proving who the rightful owner was. I am sure that

Coin Exchange Transactions

BU ROLL PRICES AS OF WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1965

The BID and ASKED prices listed on this page were taken directly from the prices shown on the teletype, and represent wholesale prices at which coins were traded at or were offered at during the week of October 6th. Of course there are some items that had several different prices both bid and asked, and we have done our best to average these items so as to give our readers the best picture possible. We have tried to ignore ridiculous bids and offers to keep the prices true. For instance, a certain roll might be actively traded in at between $95.00 and $100.00 and we have noted many transactions around these figures. Naturally we will ignore a bid offer of $75.00 or a sell offer of $125.00 on this roll as these offers are not in line at all and would just confuse the picture.

REMEMBER, THESE ARE TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN DEALERS. RETAIL PRICES ARE HIGHER.

Type Coins

depicts the history of coinage of the country.

As more and more of these coins go into permanent collections, they will be more difficult to obtain and will have a steady increase in value and are the finest potential for a well-rounded investment, as the real pleasure of numismatics

Remember — it is essential to obtain the finest condition possible, except the series where pieces are rather expensive and seldom obtainable. Then one might settle for coins in "very fine" or "extra fine" condition, or a lower grade in the rare items.

I would like to mention a few Canadian type coins of special interest, such as the 1858 twenty cent piece. This denomination was issued for only one year and many have been melted down and mutilated.

The TYPES of Canadian silver dollars have already become popular and with the surge of TYPE collecting over the next few years, will continue to be of interest to both collectors and investors alike.

Victoria coins in silver are becoming more and more difficult to obtain in nice condition and should be purchased as soon as possible.

Besides the regular decimal series, the coins of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will be sought after in top condition and as these are not easy to come by in Uncirculated condition, they will become more and more difficult to obtain. These coins are the "sleepers" in my opinion in Canadian collecting.

For history, economics, education, and sheer unadulterated pleasure, nothing can surpass type set collecting.

This is The Last Complimentary Issue of Pace For Those Who Have Not Renewed.
